

"When the patient was tolerating room air and his routine asthma medications well, he was discharged."